From the Desk of Fr. Francis

Greetings of Christ's Peace and Joy! Hope you all had a blessed week.

Thanks

Thanks to our Filipino group for a beautiful and prayerful Simbang Gabi Mass on Dec. 12th. We were blessed to have Fr. Brad Zamora as our celebrant. In his homily, he reminds us the gift of our diversity in unity. Indeed, we are many, but one faith and one Lord.

Thanks to our St. Vincent DePaul Society for the Hats, Gloves, Scarves, and Socks drive during Advent to benefit the needy. Thanks to all students in our school and Religious Education Program for taking the lead on the Advent Baby Bottle Project to benefit the Women's Center. Our parishioners responded generously to both of these events.

Year of St. Joseph (Dec. 8, 2020—Dec. 8, 2021)

On the 150th anniversary of the proclamation of St. Joseph as Patron of the universal Church by Pope Pius IX, Pope Francis proclaimed a year dedicated to honor St. Joseph in his apostolic letter, Patris Corde, With a Father's Heart in which he divides his letter into 7 sections to speak of St. Joseph as a beloved father, a tender and loving father, an obedient father, an accepting father, a creatively courageous father, a working father, and a father in the shadows.

As we celebrate the Feast of the Holy Family, it is appropriate to take some time to honor Joseph, Mary, and Jesus. We need their examples especially now for parents and children to imitate. We need the intercessions of St. Joseph and St. Mary for our families, particularly all families who are experiencing divisions, struggles and sufferings.

Below is a prayer to St. Joseph, which is in the conclusion of Pope Francis' apostolic letter. Let's pray it and ask for St. Joseph to intercede for us and our families.

*Hail, Guardian of the Redeemer,
Spouse of the Blessed Virgin Mary.
To you God entrusted his only Son;
In you Mary placed her trust;
with you Christ became man.*

*Blessed Joseph, to us too, show yourself a father and guide us in the path of life.
Obtain for us grace, mercy, and courage,
and defend us from every evil. Amen.*

Peace~ Fr. Francis

FAMILY PRAYER

By Fr. John Cuff

Here's a story that I think is suitable for Holy Family Sunday: A young man in Scotland hired himself out as a helper to a wealthy farmer; he liked the work and seemed to be doing a good job, but after two weeks he quit and returned home.

A friend asked him, "Why did you quit your job? Was the work too hard?" "Not at all," replied the young man. "Was it the wages?" "No," answered the youth, "the pay was excellent." "Well, then why did you quit?"

"I'll tell you," he said, "there was no roof on the house." In Scotland, "no roof on the house" is an expression used to indicate a home where there's no family prayer.

When I hear the terms "family prayer" and "holy family," I recall growing up in my own family on Chicago's south side. We were had seven children, and during our grade school years each night after supper, our parents used to insist that before turning on the TV we all kneel down and say the Family Rosary, recommended by the nuns at school. I suppose the Family Rosary was the closest we got to being a "holy family," but looking back I think it had good results: No divorces, one religious vocation, sixteen grandchildren, plus thirty-one great-grandchildren and still counting, thanks, I believe, to our parents' fervent faith and their insistence on family prayer.

On this subject of Family Prayer, here's another story about prayer in the home: A pastor was doing a parish census and one of the questions was, "Do you have any kind of family prayer in your home?" One family, the Wongs, replied, "Truthfully, Father, we just don't have time for it."

So the priest asked them, "Suppose you knew that one of your children would take sick if you did not pray together, would you have some kind of family prayer then?" "Oh, I guess we would," answered Mr. Wong.

"Suppose you knew that on the day you failed to say a family prayer, one of your children would be injured in an accident, would you pray together then?" This time both Mr. and Mrs. Wong answered, "We most certainly would."

The priest continued, "Now suppose that every day you failed to pray together, the law would fine you twenty dollars, would you neglect family prayer?" Mr. Wong replied, "I'm sure we would pray, Father, but why are you asking all these questions?"

"Just this," said the priest, "Your problem is not time, you could find the time; the problem is that you do not believe family prayer is important, as important as paying a fine or keeping your family healthy."

"You love your children, but you don't see that the blessing of God that you get through family prayer is more important than anything else, am I right?" Mr. and Mrs. Wong had to agree. End of story. Question: Is there a roof on your house?

For unto you is Born this Day

By an Anonymous Mother

During one of the parent formation sessions, Mr. Howard shared an inspiring slide show on the Advent Baby Bottle project, and it hit home. It took me back to 2008 when I had to consider having an abortion. I was no longer an 18-year-old female, thinking about prom, graduation, and college. Instead, I was facing a choice that would affect me for the rest of my life.

Being a first-generation Mexican American immigrant, I worked hard to maintain good grades with hopes of receiving college scholarships. Senior year approached, and I anxiously waited for acceptance letters and became excited for what was about to come until a doctor's visit rerouted my path.

I was two months pregnant, without a boyfriend, and feeling shame and guilt at the bottom of my heart. At that moment, I wanted to die! Questions of, "What will people think? My parents?" or "Should I abort? I want to attend college; I've worked so hard!" flooded my head.

As I took the courage to tell my parents, friends, teachers, and mentors, many told me to abort. But others told me to keep the baby.

I felt lost, alone, and hopeless. I was scared for the life of the unborn child and my future. One afternoon, I went to my parish and sat in the chapel. As I sat with the Holy Eucharist, my loneliness evaporated. I prayed and asked Jesus for a sign of what to do and tell me everything would be okay.

A week later, Father Stephen approached me, and we started to talk. He told me, "Young lady, Jesus died on the cross for us. He also did it for you! Jesus loves you very much. Don't be afraid, my child; nothing is impossible for him, and nothing will be impossible for you. You can still graduate high school, attend college, and be a great mother. It'll be challenging, but you have so many people who can help you. This baby is a blessing from him, and he wants you to love him."

At that moment, I felt a sense of peace, acceptance, and love and decided to continue my pregnancy. My son is now 12 years old, and I thank God every day for sending Father Stephen to my rescue and my sons. I cannot imagine a life without my son, and proud of taking that leap of faith. Life is challenging and doesn't go as planned, but Jesus always has a way to make it work for us. All we have to do is listen and open our hearts to his love and reassurance of life.

God's Child by Sr. Caritas

Young infants are a great joy, usually to their family and extended family. In my family, many of us want to hold the baby, I am one of those "in line" to hold the child. I love holding babies. People make comments like "Oh, the baby looks just like the father, or grandfather. Sometimes they compare the child to how their mother was when they were born. Sometimes they have characteristics like one of the parents.

In celebrating the Feast of the Holy Family, we hear readings about tradition, ritual, faith, and beliefs. God kept His promise and gave Abraham a son and made him the father of a great nation with as many members as stars in the sky. Mary and Joseph came to the temple to fulfill the rituals for their son, Jesus. They make the traditional sacrificial offering two turtle doves, consecrating Jesus to God. Simeon and Anna are drawn by the Holy Spirit, to Mary, Joseph and the baby. Simeon, who was promised that he would see the Savior, recognizes Jesus and says now he is ready to die. He makes a prophecy about Jesus and His Mother. Anna, always in the temple, recognizes the baby as the awaited Messiah and she tells all who are waiting for the Savior. Mary and Joseph complete their worship and return to Nazareth.

As Catholics we have rituals and traditions. I know people who were baptized two days after they were home from the hospital, making sure the baby was baptized before they were sick and died. Now we wait a little longer, but Baptism is still the way we offer our children to God. The baptized infant becomes a child of God, filled, even at that age, with the grace of God and the indwelling of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. The child belongs to God in a special way. Parents and Godparents promise to raise the child according to the teachings of the Church. We give thanks and praise to God for the child is a Child of God.
